street, small-pox; hospital, Respectfully, J. G. Cabell, President Board of Health. OFFICE BOARD OF HEALTH,) Messrs, Editors,—At your request I furnish the following information: The total number of cases of small-pox and varioloid which have occurred in this city since th appearance of the disease on the 24th of March, up to and including January 18th, is 474. The public may rely upon the ac-curacy of this statement, and it should put a stop to the false rumors now afloat in the city and country. There are now in the hospital 71 cases, the most of which, the physician in charge informs me, are convalescing. In the city proper there are not more than fifteen cases. Respectfully, J. G. CAPELL, President Board of Health.

Public Vaccination.

[For the Dispatch.] At quite a full meeting of the medical men of the city, held at the Academy of Medicine Tuesday night, there were but two cases reported of the spread of smallpox in any family where it occurred—that is, unlike measles, scarlet-fever, &c., it rarely ever goes through a family. Indeed, it is the rarest thing in the world for more than one member of a family to have the disease, though exposed to it night and And if the Council would at once have its whole family (the entire city) revaccinated— WALTER D. In the olden times the commerce of the town disputed empire with even Big Richmond. The country trade and the foreign trade supported a half-dozen or more nabob merchants, and two grand hotels competed for support with the Union Hotel, the Beil Tavern, the Eagle Hotel, the Swan, and the Washington, of Richmond. Now the old mansions look a little dilapidated by the wear and tear of the times the dated by the wear and tear of the times, the old merchants and their storehouses have passed and are fast passing away, the old taverns have either been remodelled or abandoned as useless edifices, the country trade is no longer olders.

Colonel Buford was unanimously elected.
